COMPANY POLICY — CONTROLLED DOCUMENT

MERITS FACILITY LTD

Ground Floor, The Pentagon Tower 1, Digital Drive, Cote D'Or Technopole, Ebène, Mauritius

1 — PURPOSE AND SCOPE

This Code of Ethics and Business Conduct (the “Code”) sets out the principles of acceptable conduct expected of all directors, employees, temporary staff and subcontractors of Merits Facility Ltd (the “Company”) in the course of their duties, whether performed at the Company's premises, at client sites, or elsewhere. It covers the principles of acceptable conduct, guidelines for acceptable outside activities, conflicts of interest, gifts from customers and suppliers, and the prohibition on other employment. The Code applies at all times when representing the Company.

The Company provides facilities management, professional syndic and co-ownership administration, cleaning and gardening services, and health and safety consultancy. As professional syndic, the Company handles co-owners' funds and exercises duties of care and diligence towards co-ownerships; this role demands the highest standards of integrity, transparency and accountability, which this Code is intended to secure.

2 — OUR CORE VALUES

The Company conducts its business on the basis of: (a) integrity — honesty and fairness in all dealings; (b) accountability — ownership of decisions and their consequences; (c) respect — fair and dignified treatment of clients, co-owners, suppliers, employees and the public; (d) compliance — observance of the law and of contractual obligations; and (e) safety — protection of the health and safety of workers, clients and the public, consistent with the Company's membership of the British Safety Council.

3 — COMPLIANCE WITH LAWS AND REGULATIONS

All persons bound by this Code must comply with the laws of Mauritius applicable to the Company's activities, including the Civil Code (in particular the provisions governing the syndic profession), the Companies Act, the Employment Rights Act, the Workers' Rights Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Financial Intelligence and Anti-Money Laundering Act, the Data Protection Act, and tax and social security legislation. Breach of applicable law is treated as a breach of this Code.

4 — INTEGRITY AND HONESTY IN BUSINESS DEALINGS

No director, employee or agent shall make false, misleading or incomplete statements to clients, co-owners, insurers, suppliers, authorities or colleagues, whether in tenders and quotations, reports, certificates, records, timesheets or invoices. Records must be accurate, complete and retained in accordance with the Company's document management procedures. Information must never be withheld where its disclosure is required for a proper decision of a client, a co-ownership general meeting, or a public authority.

5 — CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

A conflict of interest arises where personal interests (financial or otherwise) conflict, or may reasonably appear to conflict, with the interests of the Company or of a client. Directors and employees must: (a) avoid any situation in which their personal interests could compromise, or appear to compromise, their judgement; (b) not hold any interest in, or derive any benefit from, a supplier, contractor or competitor of the Company, or of a co-ownership administered by the Company, without prior written disclosure to and approval of the Board; (c) not use their position, or information obtained through it, for personal gain; and (d) declare any outside business interests annually and whenever a new interest arises (see section 12).

In particular, and in view of the Company's syndic activities, no person bound by this Code may accept remuneration, favours or advantages from suppliers, service providers or co-owners in connection with the award or administration of contracts, purchase orders or calls for funds.

6 — GIFTS, HOSPITALITY AND INDUCEMENTS

Gifts and hospitality may create a sense of obligation and must be handled with care. The following rules apply: (a) modest courtesies of nominal value (not exceeding Rs 1,000) may be accepted where refusal would cause offence; (b) gifts of cash, vouchers or convertible value are never acceptable; (c) gifts or hospitality exceeding nominal value must be declined or, where declining is impracticable, declared to the responsible director and surrendered to the Company; (d) hospitality that is frequent, lavish or extended to family members is not acceptable; and (e) offering gifts or hospitality to influence the decisions of clients, co-owners or public officials is prohibited in all circumstances and may constitute bribery.

7 — OUTSIDE EMPLOYMENT AND ACTIVITIES

Employment with the Company is the primary occupation of full-time staff. No director or employee shall, without the prior written consent of the Board: (a) engage in any other employment, consultancy or business activity, whether paid or unpaid, during or outside working hours; (b) hold a directorship or management position in any other firm or company; or (c) participate in any activity that competes with, or is likely to conflict with, the Company's business or the discharge of their duties. Outside activities that are charitable, professional-body related or educational in nature are encouraged where they do not conflict with duties.

8 — CONFIDENTIALITY AND PROTECTION OF INFORMATION

Directors and employees must protect confidential information of the Company, of its clients and co-ownerships, and of co-owners, including financial information, personal data, security arrangements, access codes and contractual terms. Such information must be used solely for the performance of duties, must not be disclosed to third parties except where legally required or authorised in writing, and must be handled in accordance with the Data Protection Act 2017. This obligation continues after the end of the engagement.

9 — CLIENT FUNDS AND FINANCIAL INTEGRITY

Funds collected on behalf of co-ownerships are held in bank accounts designated for the co-ownership and kept strictly separate from the Company's own monies, in accordance with article 664-45 of the Civil Code and the Company's financial procedures. All collections, payments and transfers must be supported by proper documentation, recorded accurately and promptly, and authorised in accordance with the Company's delegated authority limits. No payment may be made for an improper purpose, split to avoid an approval threshold, or released on a single signature where dual authorisation is required. Falsification, concealment or misappropriation of funds or records will result in disciplinary action and referral to the authorities where applicable.

10 — FAIR DEALING

The Company deals fairly with clients, co-owners, suppliers, competitors and employees. Procurement is conducted on the basis of transparent requests for quotations, objective comparison and documented award, in accordance with the Company's procurement procedures. Misleading advertising, disparagement of competitors, and any form of collusion in bidding are prohibited. Co-owners and clients must be given the information they need, in good time, to exercise their rights.

11 — EMPLOYMENT PRACTICES

The Company is committed to a workplace free of discrimination, harassment and bullying. Employment decisions are based on merit, qualifications and business need, without regard to gender, race, religion, disability, age, sexual orientation or political opinion. Employees are treated with dignity; violence, harassment, victimisation and bullying are not tolerated. Working conditions comply with the Employment Rights Act, the Workers' Rights Act and applicable occupational safety and health legislation, including payment of at least the minimum wage and statutory benefits.

12 — DECLARATION OF OUTSIDE BUSINESS INTERESTS

All directors and employees must complete a Declaration of Outside Business Interests upon engagement and thereafter annually, disclosing: (a) directorships, partnerships or shareholdings (other than in publicly quoted companies below a 5% holding); (b) outside employment or consultancies; (c) financial interests in suppliers, contractors or competitors; and (d) relationships that could lead to a conflict of interest with the Company or any co-ownership it administers. Declarations are reviewed by the Board and kept on the personnel file.

13 — ANTI-BRIBERY AND CORRUPTION

The Company has zero tolerance for bribery and corruption, in line with the Financial Intelligence and Anti-Money Laundering Act and the Prevention of Corruption Act. No person bound by this Code may offer, promise, give, solicit or accept any bribe, facilitation payment, kickback or other improper advantage, whether involving public officials or private parties, in Mauritius or abroad. Suspected bribery or money laundering must be reported immediately under section 14.

14 — REPORTING CONCERNS AND WHISTLEBLOWING

Any director, employee or third party who observes or suspects a breach of this Code, a legal requirement, or improper conduct affecting the Company or a co-ownership is expected to report it promptly, in confidence, to the Managing Director or to the Chairman of the Board. Reports may also be made in writing to the registered office. The Company prohibits retaliation in any form against a person who makes a report in good faith, and treats false and malicious accusations as a disciplinary matter.

15 — BREACHES OF THE CODE

Breach of this Code may result in disciplinary action up to and including dismissal, and where applicable in civil or criminal proceedings. Suppliers and subcontractors in breach of the standards set out in this Code may be subject to termination of their contract. All reported breaches are investigated fairly, documented, and followed by corrective action.
